

Memoirs From Madurai

Insanta, the youngest of the girls from Saint Joseph's Development Trust, delighted in the Fourth of July celebration hosted by the American guests.

Elizabeth Mullen and Paula Orozco pose in their traditional Indian saris.

Brother Gilbert, a teacher from "Reaching the Unreached", with one of the girls from the Saint Joseph's Development Trust.

Above: Saint Joseph's Development Trust has recently expanded its work to take in twenty-four girls whose families can no longer care for them. Here, the women join in with the girls during the one hour of play time they are allowed each day.

Left: The teachers helped to celebrate after Brother Lawrence, on the far left, made his first vows.